Liverpool Chess Club History

Liverpool Chess Club is a diamond hidden deep in the history of the city of Liverpool today which was 19th century colossus in the world of chess.

Officially founded on 15th December 1837 in the Lyceum building in Bold Street by 49 founder members from the Liverpool upper classes, the club is one of the oldest existing chess club in the world. The Liverpool Mercury and other articles indicate the club was meeting at least as far back as 1813.

In 1892 Liverpool was seen to be the largest chess club in the world with 150 members most of whom were Liverpool's gentry, business men, doctors, lawyers, clergy and politicians. This 1880-1900 period was known as the "Golden age" of the club with many famous players including Amos Burn competing on the highest stages of world chess.

Amos Burn was ranked world number 2 in 1876 behind William Steinitz whilst Rev John Owen (Owens defence) famously played and defeated Paul Morphy. In more recent decades the likes of Gordon Crown, John Littlewood and Gerald Abrahams and many others were well known contenders throughout the highest chess circles.

Such has been the reputation of the club throughout its existence that it has managed to attract visits from many of the world's greatest names in chess from Harawitz, Steinitz, Blackburne, Bird, Lasker to Keres, Botvinnik, Spassky, Smyslov, Karpov and Tal.

There is so much more research to be undertaken on the famous Liverpool Chess Club library which continues to uncover fascinating facts and articles on historical events and individuals on a regular basis which we aim to investigate and publicise over the next few years.

We are always looking for volunteers to help with the vast amount of research to be undertaken, especially researchers who can competently read copperplate or calligraphy based materials and help us uncover more of the clubs history.
